We have been busy!

Dear Friends!

vienna theatre project is back with some amazing shows this season.

First off, we are very excited to open up with our new/old team and really kick off the 2010-2011 season with a bang, with our Hit Musical "Over the Threshold". Make sure you don't miss it. In our next Backstage edition (out in Sept.), we will disclose some secrets about the stars: who they are, where they come from, what they have done and why they are here. So watch out for more stories and news. We will also reveal the dates when Chris Hamilton is coming to watch personally! If we are lucky, we may get him to tinkle on the piano!

THIS SHOW RECEIVED
4 and 5 STAR ***** RATINGS from TOP CRITCS at the EDINBURGH FESTIVAL

What else is going on?

We don't want to reveal too much yet, but we are working hard to get one of Niel LaBute's crowd-pulling shows onto a Vienna stage in May. If you don't know "Some Girl(s)", please make sure you come and watch this great show about a man and his journey of self-discovery (or not) before he ties the knot. It's a fun ride, and he doesn't always shine - but anyone would have a hard time when up against four strong female characters.

Monologues keep cropping up on the team's lips at meetings, and we will keep you updated on what is going on with that in our next issue. Joanna Godwin-Seidl will be doing "An Evening of Fear" in collaboration with Theaterverein Vision, also in October 2010. Once the dates are set for her gory evening of frightening reads, you'll be the first to know.

We can only ask you to keep watching our website and looking out for newsletters for what is coming next!

MARK VANHOMMERIG is our newest team member. In keeping with our international style, Mark is a Dutch director/producer and has already become a valuable asset as we juggle the fun trials of running a theatre company.

EVA DRNEK, JOANNA GODWIN-SEIDL & MONICA MELEGA are still very much enjoying the adventure of cultural management and creativity, as well as working together with our newest team member.

We said a sad farewell to Sharron Aubrey this year and want to thank her for her work.
